REPORT OF SCHOOL BOARD.

The following report of the School Board of Fitzwilliam, for the year ending March 1, 1891, is respectfully submitted:

In reviewing the work which has been done the past year in our schools, we feel that there has been an increasing interest among the parents and scholars.

We have endeavored to look well to the interests of all concerned, having made during the past year at least eighty-six visits, and requesting teachers to report to us the condition of their schools weekly.

The law compelling the town to furnish text books has been a great expense, and caused much extra labor for the School Board and teachers.

In some of our teachers we have been disappointed in their ability to teach and control those under their care, making it necessary to shorten their term of service.

A few whose work was fairly done would have been more successful had they performed their labor with more life and energy, while others have worked in a whole hearted manner, sacrificing their ease and convenience in school and out for the good of their pupils, teaching them how to think, how to study, and creating in them a desire for a higher standard of excellence; with such teachers we would have been glad to supplied all our schools.

A word to the parents: We urge you to look after the schools where your children attend, let them feel that you, fathers, as well as mothers, are interested in the progress they are making in each particular branch; that you are interested in the way they conduct themselves in school and around the school buildings; encourage them to feel that they represent the honor of your homes, and their conduct reflects credit or discredit upon the family of which they are members.

It is a mistaken idea that the town system removes all responsibility from the parents to the School Board. It is by no means the case. It is impossible for the members of the Board to know as soon as the parents, if little by little, disorder, idleness and mischief creep into the school room, or if there is a lack of love and unity between teacher and scholars; we deem it a duty on your part and a favor to the Board, to inform them as soon as possible if such is the case, that they may have the opportunity to correct the trouble, if may be, otherwise to close the school without needless expenditure of time and money.

Thanking you for your co-operation in our endeavor to elevate the condition of our schools, we would respectfully suggest that the same liberal amount of money be appropriated as last year for the support of schools.

CHARLES A. WHITNEY,
WM. E. DICKINSON,
MARY E. SPAULDING,

In presenting this our annual report we would first acknowledge our indebtedness to the following persons and associations for donations: Dr. Hubbard, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Rand, Mrs. J. J. Allen, Keene, N. H.; Charles H. Woods, Minneapolis; Oren Thompson, Chicago; Henry Sabin, Des Moines; John S. Brown, Lawrence, Kan.; from Washington: circulars of information from Bureau of Education, Patent Office, Official Gazette, Weekly, Official Records of the War of the Rebellion; New Hampshire Laws, Journals and Reports.

The library now contains 3017 volumes. The circulation has been at the rate of 3245 per annum. We trust an appropriation will be made at our next town meeting, sufficient to enable us to maintain at least our present standard. Many of the older books will soon be worn out and have to be cast aside. Good congenial books are very desirable company at any time, and especially so in our long winter evenings.

The multiplication of free public libraries is one of the honorable distinctions of the present. We would like to have the standard of our library so high that none need go beyond the limits of our own town in the prosecution of any study to which they may be inclined. The majority of our young men go out from us to gain a livelihood, or to seek what is called a fortune, elsewhere. If this be a necessity that is laid upon them, as they affirm, we can hardly be too liberal in providing them with the means of qualifying themselves beforehand for honor and success; and surely it is well that life should be sweetened as much as possible for those who must stay behind.

It is desirable that all drawers of books make use of the cards which have been provided for that purpose.
